

COPPLE CROWN CONSERVATION AREA

Conserved Property of the Lakes Region Conservation Trust

Welcome to the Copple Crown Conservation Area, a 732-acre property acquired by the Lakes Region Conservation Trust in 1996. Copple Crown Mountain (elev. 1,868 feet) is a major landmark southeast of Lake Winnipesaukee, and the view from the summit offers spectacular and unique perspectives of the Lakes Region and eastern New Hampshire.

From the main summit, the prominent landmarks are Lake Winnipesaukee and Lake Wentworth in the near distance. Beyond them rise Mount Major and the Belknap Range to the west and the Ossipee and Sandwich Ranges to the north. On clear days, the higher peaks of the White Mountains are visible. A trail to the eastern summit of Copple Crown rewards the hiker with views of Moose Mountain and a broad vista towards the New Hampshire Seacoast.
